ABSTRACT

In a sector address region 5, address blocks 16, 17, 18, 19 including address numbers and ID numbers are shifted alternately to the inner periphery side or the outer periphery side with respect to a track center by substantially half a track pitch along the radius direction. As a result, the reading of addresses of a land/groove recording/reproduction type optical disk is improved while improving the tracking stability in the sector address regions.