CLAIMS

1. Use of an immunomodulating agent containing formic aldehyde in an amount of 0.073– 0.075% in isotonic sodium chloride solution in the manufacture of a medicament for the treatment of coronavirus, retroviral infections and hepatitis C in a subject, wherein the immunomodulating agent is to be administered to the subject by intramuscular injections at a single dose of 5 mL per injection.

2. The use of the agent according to claim 1 wherein the agent is to be administered once a day for seven days.

3. The use of the agent according to claim 1 wherein the agent is to be introduced twice, when the second time is either on the 7^{th} day after the first injection or a month after the first injection.

4. The use of the agent according to claim 1 wherein the agent is to be introduced on the 2^{nd}, 3^{rd} and 10^{th} day after the first injection.

5. The use of the agent according to claim 1 wherein the agent is to be introduced 3 times with an interval between each injection of 12 hours, then after one or two days another 5 times with an interval between each injection of 12 hours, then, a day after the last injection, a single injection is carried out, then after three days a repeated single injection is carried out, and the final single administration of the agent is carried out five days after the last injection.