MECHANISM OF MATCHING

BETWEEN A RECEIVER AND A SECURITY MODULE

ABSTRACT

System for controlling the transmission of information between a receiver and a security module, especially for a pay television system, in which the transmitted information is encrypted and decrypted by means of a unique encryption key stored, on the one hand, in the receiver and, on the other hand, in the security module.

(Figure 1)

This Sheet Has Been Replaced