

ABSTRACT

COMMUNICATION APPARATUS, CONTROL METHOD, AND PROGRAM

In a case where a connection between a communication apparatus and other one communication apparatus is established via a first frequency channel and a second frequency channel, a beacon frame transmitted using the first frequency channel includes information for communication using the second frequency channel, and a FILS discovery frame or an unsolicited probe response frame transmitted using the first frequency channel does not include the information.

[Figure 7]