Abstract of the Disclosure

A polishing film is formed by treating silica particles with heat at 100-400°C for 4-48 hours and a polishing layer with no internal holes and a thickness of 50μm or greater, containing 50-85 weight % of such heat-treated silicon particles is formed by fixing these silica particles with a binder resin.

162162

G00002