

A B S T R A C T

TITLE: Attachment for a Dicing Saw

5 An attachment for a dicing saw having a housing, a carriage mounted in the housing, a bellows coupled to the carriage, and at least one drainage channel in the housing, the attachment including a collector for automatically collecting debris and fallen dice during operation of the dicing saw.

10 There is also provided a method for cleaning a dicing saw having a housing, a carriage mounted in the housing, a bellows coupled to the carriage, and at least one drainage channel in the housing, the method including the steps of automatically collecting debris and fallen dice in a collector during operation of the dicing saw.

(Fig. 1)