

A NOVEL CARD

28 JUN 2004

ABSTRACT

- 5 This invention relates to a folded card that comprises a central portion and a pair of side flaps connected to either side of the central portion where the side flaps are folded over the central portion so that only a section of the central portion is covered. This allows an image or illustration to be printed onto the central portion so that not all of the image is visible when the card is folded.

10

Figure 5

162162

G00001