

when executed by a processor, the executable instructions cause the processor to perform a method for accessing out-of-chain data according to any one of claims 1 to 11.