

A VEHICLE AND MOUNTING SYSTEM FOR A VEHICLEABSTRACT

5 A vehicle including: a body; a module attached to said body; and a track and track follower assembly attaching said module to said body so that said module is movable relative to said body by sliding relative movement between said track and track follower between a first position at which said module is not attached to said body and a second position at which said module is attached to said body; and wherein said module is substantially locked to said body in said second position.

10

Figure 1