

[ABSTRACT]

The present disclosure relates to a pharmaceutical composition that can be usefully used for the prevention or treatment of fibrosis. According to the present invention, there is a feature that the preventive or therapeutic effect of 5 fibrosis can be further enhanced by using the first component and the second component in combination.

[Representative Figure]

Fig. 1

10