BIOLOGICALLY ACTIVE C-TERMINAL ARGININE-CONTAINING PEPTIDES

Abstract

The present invention concerns the separation, identification and characterization of active peptide fragments from peptones.

Figure: 1