

[Name of Document] Abstract

A container for food includes a bottom portion (11) having a circular shape; a wall portion (12) including a first wall portion (21) formed continuously from the bottom portion (11) and formed with a curved surface and an inclined surface inclined relative to the bottom portion (11), and a second wall portion (22) formed continuously from the first wall portion (21) and extending in a direction orthogonal to a surface direction of the bottom portion (11), the wall portion including an opening formed in a rectangular shape on one side and in a semielliptical shape on another side; and a flange portion (13) formed continuously from the second wall portion (22).