

ABSTRACT

[Abstract] A wiring device includes a first organic layer including a first upper surface and a first lower surface located opposite the first upper surface, and a plurality of first wires located on the first upper surface. The first organic layer includes a first recess located on the first upper surface between two of the first wires.

[Selected Figure] Fig. 2