

Medicine for alleviating neuropathic pain

Abstract

The present invention provides compounds that attenuate the function of the P2X7 receptor for the treatment of human neuropathic pain.

[Fig. 1]