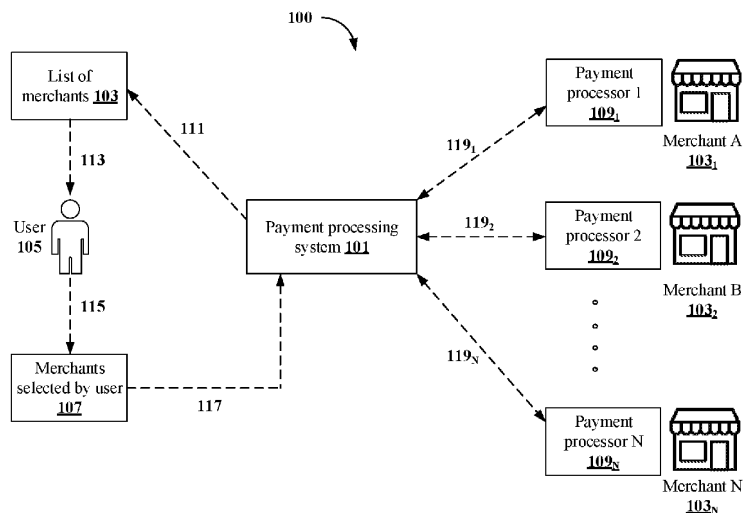

FIGURE 1

(57) Abstract: The present disclosure relates to a payment processing system and a method for automatic payment method transmission to merchants. The method comprises providing a list of plurality of merchants to a user for receiving a user selection on at least one of the plurality of merchants for performing one or more transactions. In response to the user selection, the method comprises authenticating the user, based on user details provided by the user, for authorizing the user to set one or more payment methods for the at least one of the plurality of merchants selected by the user. Subsequently, method comprises transmitting the user details, user authorization and the one or more payment methods set by the user to a payment processor associated with each of the plurality of merchants selected by the user. Finally, the method comprises receiving a merchant confirmation on acceptance of the one or more payment methods set by the user from the at least one of the plurality of merchants selected by the user. In some embodiments, the above process may be also used to delete the one or more payment methods set with the plurality of merchants selected by the user and/or delete a merchant from the list of the plurality of merchants selected by the user.
