

Abstract

The present disclosure discloses a method, system, network server, storage medium for anonymous dating. The method, applying to a system for anonymous network dating, includes: obtaining dating information transmitted by a dating
5 information sender, encrypting an account of the dating information sender; performing random pairing for the dating information sender in the system for anonymous network dating, determining information of a dating information receiver according to a pairing result; transmitting to the dating information receiver the dating
10 information after the account is encrypted. According to the present disclosure, anonymous dating can be implemented and security of user's privacy is ensured.

Fig. 1