

METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR UNLOCKING USER INTERFACE

Abstract

A method and an apparatus for unlocking a user interface, the method comprising: when an unlock interface is triggered, selecting an unlock password for said unlock interface from preset multiple passwords (102); and when a password input by the user matching said unlock password is received, releasing the locked state of the interface (104). Unlocking security can be improved by means of the present method.

Figure 1