

Abstract

5

A method of driving a liquid crystal cell of the DHF (distorted helix ferroelectric) type, in which the cell is capacitively driven. In a circuit for driving a DHF-type liquid crystal cell, the cell during operation is 10 connected in series with a small capacitance.

Fig. 1

15

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

