

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

THIS SHEET HAS BEEN REPLACED

ABSTRACT

A communication device for communicating with at least one designated remote device, which communication device comprises a programmable logic module to configure the communication device and permit communication with the at least one designated remote device in response to a set of configuration commands and a communication module to receive the set of configuration commands.