COMMODITY ALLOCATING SYSTEM, COMMODITY ALLOCATING METHOD, COMMODITY ALLOCATING PROGRAM, AND STORING MEDIUM

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A management center allocates scheduled and informed commodities that have not been received to a recipient. The allocated quantity is the upper limit of which a customer can order commodities. The allocated quantity is decided by the management center in accordance with for example an estimated sales quantity of each region, priority of each customer, and ratio designated to each customer. The allocated quantities are hierarchically structured so that orders from customers can be flexibly accepted. Allocated quantities are used up for orders from customers upwardly from the lowest hierarchical level.
