

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a rhinovaccination system of influenza vaccine, comprising a medical syringe
5 filled with an influenza vaccine composition which comprises an inactivated whole influenza virion and a gel base material comprising carboxy vinyl polymer to administer the influenza vaccine composition to nasal mucosa, which is characterized by not comprising an 10 adjuvant.