

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a polishing layer containing a polyurethane, in which an elongation at break of the polyurethane at a tensile speed of 50 mm/min after saturated and swollen by water of 50 °C is less than 100 %, a polishing pad equipped with the polishing layer and a method for producing thereof, and a polishing method which uses the polishing pad.