

ABSTRACT

Aspects concern a method for training a language model, comprising generating training data which includes symbolic tasks and natural language tasks and target outputs for the symbolic tasks and the natural language tasks and performing instruction tuning of the language model using the generated training data.

FIG. 5