

ACCESS METHOD AND APPARATUS

ABSTRACT

This application provides an access method and an apparatus. The method includes: A terminal device receives first information. The first information indicates that access of a first-type terminal device is barred or allowed, and the first-type terminal device meets a first condition. The terminal device accesses or is barred from accessing the network device based on the first information. By implementing the foregoing method, access control can be performed on the terminal device.

10 Fig. 2