162162

G00002

Abstract

The invention concerns the use of substances that bind to the bacterial translation factor EF-Tu to inhibit the formation of a cytoskeleton in bacterial cells and for the production of antibacterial agents. In addition the invention concerns antibacterial agents which contain partial sections of the amino acid sequences of domains 2 and/or 3 of a bacterial EF-Tu protein having a length of preferably 4-20 amino acids.