

ABSTRACT

Embodiments of the present disclosure provide an image acquisition device. The device includes a main body and a camera. A rotating portion is provided on the main body. The camera is arranged on the rotating portion. A knob portion is provided on the rotating portion at a lateral side of the camera in the axial direction. The knob portion can drive the rotating portion to rotate.

[Figure 1]