Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention relates to a complex comprising polmacoxib and tramadol. The present invention relates to a pharmaceutical composition and a medicine or an analgesic, all of which contain two types of active ingredients of polmacoxib and tramadol, and, more specifically, to effects and uses of the active ingredients in a medicine or an analgesic for the treatment of moderate acute and chronic pain caused by inflammatory and multiple factors.

Fig. 1