

Biotechnological synthesis process of organic compounds with the aid of an alkL gene product

Abstract

5

Subject matter of the invention is a biotechnological process for the production of organic compounds with the aid of at least one alkL gene product.