

5

Abstract

10

The present invention pertains to a reversible key for profile cylinders, which has recesses beginning from the key tip arranged on both its broad sides, which has at least two variation edges in each case, a system comprising such reversible keys for a system of assigned profile cylinders as well as profile cylinders and such reversible keys, particularly for use in master key systems.

15

(Fig. 1)