

ABSTRACT

5      Method for assembling proteins from peptide fragments. It allows the production of proteins in a manner that is simple, reliable and applicable on an industrial scale. This method allows the production of proteins of therapeutic or diagnostic interest. The invention also relates to kits for applying this synthesis method as well as test and/or diagnostic kits.