

ABSTRACT

Provided are a polycyclic derivative regulator, a preparation method therefor, and an application thereof. In particular, provided are a compound represented by general formula (I'), a preparation method therefor, a pharmaceutical composition comprising the compound, and an application thereof as a regulator in the preparation of a drug for treating metabolic diseases and related diseases; the substituents in general formula (I') are the same as those defined in the description.

