

ABSTRACT

[01] A semiconductor strip sawing apparatus in which air pressure can be uniformly and efficiently applied to a drying device, thereby enabling both a ball up type process and a ball
5 down type process, and which can be operated under various requirements.