

CONFIGURABLE COOLING ASSEMBLY AND COOLING METHOD

ABSTRACT

5 An assembly of thermally conductive cooling blocks is configured to be placed against a composite skin between a heating blanket used to thermally cure a composite repair patch and a structure formed of a heat sensitive material. The cooling block assembly conducts heat away from the skin to prevent 10 overheating of the heat sensitive material.

Figure 2