Claims

1. A cushion including:

a pillow portion, an elongate trunk portion and a scarf;

the pillow portion having a front side and a rear side, and defining a support surface on the front side which is useable for supporting the head of a user of the cushion;

the trunk portion extending away from the pillow portion and having a terminal end which is distal to the pillow portion, wherein the scarf is attached to the pillow portion and/or the trunk portion at a first end portion of the scarf and is engageable, in use, with the trunk portion at a portion of the scarf that is spaced from the first end portion.

2. A cushion as claimed in Claim 1, wherein the scarf is attached to the pillow portion and/or the trunk portion at a point corresponding to a substantial midpoint of the pillow portion in a direction of a longitudinal axis of the pillow portion.

3. A cushion as claimed in Claim 2, wherein the scarf is attached along a line of attachment that extends in a direction generally transverse to a direction of a longitudinal axis of the pillow portion.

4. A cushion as claimed in any preceding claim, wherein the scarf is attached to the pillow portion and extends from the rear side of the pillow portion.

5. A cushion as claimed in any preceding claim, wherein an attachment means is provided for removably attaching the scarf to the trunk portion at the portion of the scarf that is spaced from the first end portion of the scarf.

6. A cushion as claimed in Claim 5, wherein the attachment means comprises one or more openings in the scarf adapted to receive the trunk portion therethrough for hooking the scarf on the trunk portion.

7. A cushion as claimed in Claim 6, wherein a plurality of the openings are provided in the scarf, the openings being spaced from one another along a length of the scarf.

8. A cushion as claimed in any preceding claim, wherein the cushion comprises a pocket for stowage of the scarf when it is not in use.

9. A cushion as claimed in any of Claims 1 to 8, wherein the scarf is detachable and a first loop or hole is provided at the first end portion of the scarf for receiving the trunk portion therethrough for attaching the scarf to an end portion of the trunk portion which is proximal the pillow portion.

10. A cushion as claimed in Claim 9, wherein the scarf is provided with a second loop or hole at the first end portion of the scarf for attachment to a fixing means on the pillow portion.

11. A cushion as claimed in any preceding claim, wherein the scarf is provided with a spine in its first end portion.

12. A cushion according to any preceding claim, wherein the pillow portion projects from the trunk portion transversely to the elongation of the trunk portion from two opposite sides of the trunk portion.

13. A cushion according to any preceding claim, wherein the cushion is substantially symmetrical.

14. A cushion according to any preceding claim, wherein the cushion is substantially symmetrical about a plane bisecting the pillow portion and containing the trunk portion.