

162162

ABSTRACTA Control System and an Interface Therefor

5 An interface is disclosed that is locatable between a server and a plurality of fan filter units for a clean room. The interface has a memory configured to store a copy of control settings from a control signal sent from the server to the plurality of fan filter units; and a processor configured to send a control signal to the fan filter units based on the stored copy of the control settings, if a predetermined condition is met.

10

Figure 3

G00002