

ABSTRACT

An embodiment parallel cell based mobility production system includes a serial production line through which vehicles of various types sequentially pass to be processed, a parallel production line composed of a plurality of sublines arranged in parallel, each subline provided with a plurality of cells arranged in serials, and an inspection line in which the vehicles of various types passed through the parallel production line are sequentially fed.

Fig. 1