RECESSED SLIDER TRAILING EDGE FOR REDUCING STICTION

ABSTRACT

A slider (201) used in a disk drive apparatus is described which has an air bearing surface and a trailing surface and a plurality of recessed steps (204, 205) at the trailing edge (203). These steps at the trailing edge greatly reduce stictional forces.

FIG 2

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

