ABSTRACT

A method for reporting power headroom is performed by a user equipment (UE), and includes: obtaining one or more physical uplink shared channels (PUSCHs) transmitted towards a plurality of transmission and reception points (TRPs); selecting at least one reporting target TRP from the plurality of TRPs; obtaining at least one power headroom reporting (PHR) of at least one PUSCH of the at least one reporting target TRP; and selecting at least one target PHR from the at least one PHR and reporting the at least one target PHR.

FIG. 1