(54) Title: A FLOORPLAN VISUALISATION SYSTEM

FIG. 1

(57) Abstract: In one embodiment, there is provided a floorplan visualisation system. The system comprises a visualisation studio; a matrix of floor mounted visual display units defining a floor surface of the visualisation studio; a controller computer comprising: a user interface; and a video output operably coupled to the matrix of visual display units for controlling the video displayed from such. In use, the controller computer is configured for: receiving floor plan representative data; segmenting the floor plan representation data into a plurality of display segments; and outputting the plurality of display segments to respective visual display units.
