

Abstract

PATCH PACKAGING

The present application relates to a patch packaging, and more particularly to a scented 5 patch packaging for emitting scented smell that could alter the mood of the users. The patch packaging comprises a primary container for holding at least one patch; and a secondary container for housing the primary container. The present application also relates to a method of making the patch packaging and a method of using the patch packaging.

10
(Fig. 1)