ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A catalyst having a high activity and mechanical strength and a process for preparing it are provided. The catalyst comprises molybdenum, vanadium, copper and antimony as essential components. The peak in X-ray diffractometry of the catalytically active component with Cu-Kα line is largest at 22.2±0.3° (2θ).