

[Abstract]

Disclosed in the present specification is a composition for stabilization of a pH sensitive component, for example, a vitamin C derivative. The composition forms a gel structure with low pH by using an anionic surfactant and a higher alcohol, thereby providing a formulation having a pH sensitive component stabilized through the gel structure without the use of a pH buffer.