

ABSTRACT

Provided in the present invention are a sidelink transmission control method, a sending terminal and a receiving terminal. A sending terminal side method comprises: determining whether a resource re-selection triggering condition is satisfied; and in cases where the resource re-selection triggering condition is satisfied, executing a first operation, the first operation comprising at least one of resource re-selection, modulation and coding scheme (MCS) adjustment and power adjustment.

Figure 5 accompanies.