Abstract

The invention relates to the pharmaceutical industry and veterinary medicine, and constitutes a pharmaceutical composition for correcting the behaviour of cats and dogs in stressful situations without causing lethargy and/or loss of coordination of movement and/or prolonged deep sleep, characterised in that it comprises trazodone succinate as an active ingredient in a concentration that provides an effective dose in a single administration, and pharmaceutically acceptable fillers.