

SYSTEM, INFORMATION PROCESSING DEVICE, INFORMATION
PROCESSING METHOD, PROGRAM, AND RECORDING MEDIUM

ABSTRACT

The present invention is configured to obtain position information of an article photographed with an imaging device in a first warehouse work as position information used in a second warehouse work performed after the first warehouse work and register the obtained position information and identification information of the article in a storage unit. The position information is associated with the identification information of the article.

Fig. 6