

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A squeegee for screen printing used for applying solder paste on a circuit board is provided with a metallic blade made of an elastic plate. The metallic blade is formed with depressions thereon by etching, for example. The metallic blade may be coated with resin of ethylene tetrafluoride, such as polytetrafluoroethylene. The depth of the depressions may be smaller than the diameter of metallic particles included in the solder paste.

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

