

ABSTRACT

REFRIGERANT REGULATION DEVICE

[Problem] The objective of the present invention is to provide a refrigerant adjustment device with which the energy consumption of a refrigeration device can be reduced with a simple construction, and which can easily be applied to an existing refrigeration device. Therefore, in the present invention a refrigerant adjustment device (2) that supplies electrons to a refrigerant is interposed in the refrigerant piping (1) in a compression-type refrigeration device or an absorption-type refrigeration device.

(FIG. 1)