

Food Receptacle

Abstract

A food receptacle having a housing adapted to enclose food therein and an eating implement formed as a portion of the housing such that the eating implement is adapted to be detachable from the housing.

Fig. 1