

[ABSTRACT]

The present invention relates to a loan method based on an order of goods, in which a distributor who purchases goods from a supplier and distributes the goods in a market obtains a loan from a financial institution based on an order of goods that the distributor makes a request for the purchase of the goods to the supplier and receives a bill statement for the goods from the supplier, the loan method including: a transaction preparation step, in which a supplier computer operated by a supplier, an intermediary computer operated by an intermediary who intermediates loan execution, a financial institution computer operated by a financial institution that executes loan, and a distributor computer possessed by a distributor are prepared; a recording step, in which the intermediary computer receives information and records information on an order of goods; a loan application step, in which the distributor records a loan application; a loan approval determination step, in which a loan approval is determined according to a loan examination in the financial institution; a loan approval result transmission step, in which the determination result of the loan approval is transmitted to the intermediary computer and the distributor computer; and a loan execution step, in which the financial institution computer executes the loan and the loan execution result is recorded in the financial institution computer.

FIGURE 1