

ABSTRACT

The embodiments of the present disclosure provide a method, apparatus, and storage medium for processing resource allocation data. The method comprises: acquiring popularity and transaction volume of a target vehicle type in a target site within a preset time range;
5 evaluating resource allocation data of the target vehicle type based on the popularity and the transaction volume to obtain an evaluation result of the resource allocation data; and adjusting the resource allocation data or outputting a resource adjustment suggestion corresponding to the evaluation result, according to the evaluation result.